Greetings!

Welcome to the first issue of the DAS Advisor, your source on the latest news, tips and information about Document Management and Storage Solutions!

Over the coming months, we will be presenting news bites, white papers, product information and updates on document management applications, scanners and storage products to assist you.

Did you know...

The Radicati Group estimates there are 578 million email users generating about 85 emails each per day, and the Gartner Group expects the use of email to continue to grow at a rate of 40% per year?

PaperVision® Message Manager allows organizations of any size to obtain—and keep—control of email messages and the power to capture, store and retrieve all email messages in a single, searchable information management system. With Message Manager, companies can comply with government and industry regulations by capturing new and pre-existing messages, organizing all messages for immediate retrieval, and providing non-repudiation.

- Capture and preserve messages as they enter or exit, enabling full compliance with Sarbanes Oxley and other government regulations
- Allow virtually any email system to forward messages to a mailbox on an email server monitored by Message Manager for management in PaperVision Enterprise
- Preserve messages and provide non-repudiation – verify the integrity of messages by comparing them with originally captured versions
- Capture pre-existing messages from Outlook and and Exchange mailboxes

- Implement email management without a complex with Exchange through the use of journaling
- Put all the power of PaperVision Enterprise to work on your email!

Announcing the Release of Alchemy 8.2, Service Pack/Feature Pack 3

Alchemy 8.2, Service Pack/Feature Pack 3 is now available and contains fixes for customer reported issues plus the following new or improved capabilities. Additionally, the latest release includes:

Viewing OCR and Printing OCR Text

Alchemy now provides great usability and data access associated with PDF for TIF images. Using the new Alchemy OCR format, anyone using Alchemy now can seamlessly move between the actual image and the OCR text for purposes of copy- paste, printing OCR text, and even finding specific text using search hit highlighting. This new set of capabilities provides a great leap forward for the TIF file format and makes Alchemy even easier to use.

Active Directory Nested Groups

For companies with more sophisticated user management needs, nested groups within Microsoft Active Directory provides a more flexible and more controllable means to create and control user access. Alchemy Server Integrated Security now provides support for AD Nested Groups all in an effort to make Alchemy more open and trusted.

Call Alani Kuye at 888-395-6396 to receive your updates and installation information.
